Gold star rating for Swan Tafe

SWAN Tafe in Midland is now a leading trade skills training organisation.

It is one of four campuses to be awarded a 'three gold star rating' for its building and construction courses by the Institute for Trade Skills Excellence.

Managing director Wayne Collyer said receiving the rating was recognition of the high quality of teaching delivered.

"It validates our position as a leading choice in training in the building and construction industry," he said.

The star rating scheme focuses on eight areas of skill shortage including automotive, electrical, hospitality and engineering.

The star rating was a great way to keep focus on providing excellence for customers.
