

Gold stars abound as organisation reaps its just reward for a job well done

SOUTH Western Sydney Institute of TAFE has received a gold star next to its name.

The group recently took home one Three Gold Star rating and two Two Gold Star ratings from the Institute for Trade Skills Excellence.

The star rating identifies the best training providers across all industries. High-performing training organisations are given a one, two or three gold star rating, with three being the highest rating achievable.

Director Barry Peddle said he was proud the institute had been recognised.

"TAFE places a strong emphasis on practical skills so that students are job-ready when they finish their course," he said.

"Our close links with employers helps us ensure our training is relevant to the workplace and that we are providing training to reduce skill shortages.

"Students attending the institute can be assured they are receiving the highest level of training available to help them get the job they want and employers can be certain they are getting the most highly-trained graduates who are also job-ready upon graduation."

Second semester enrolments will be held on Thursday, July 3, between 11am and 7pm.
